Barokes Wines packages its wines in aluminium cans. The filling process is patented, and the wine has been in commercial production since 2003. The wines show normal maturation and none of the cans used since start-up shows signs of corrosion. Wines are supplied in bulk by large wineries in southeastern Australia, with Peter Scudamore-Smith acting as blending consultant. The wines are perfectly adequate for the market they serve, with remarkably even quality. Exports to all major markets with increasing success, with production rising from 60 000 to 150 000 cases (24 cans per case).
